

Iran Will Defy Adverse Ruling In Oil Dispute

Nationalization of Industry Set Even if U.N. Votes "No"

LONDON, Oct. 4 (INS)—The Iranian Minister to The Hague said tonight upon leaving for New York that Iran will defy the U.N. Security Council if there is an adverse ruling in the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

Mohammad Mossadegh, the minister at the scene of the recent International Court of Justice injunction against Iran, said his country will nationalize the British-owned oil industry completely, "even if the Security Council votes against it."

Similar sentiments were echoed by official circles in Tehran, the Iranian capital.

Prime Minister Attlee met with his cabinet ministers and vice-chief of staff today for discussion of the dispute pending the next week's Security Council hearing in New York.

The House of Commons was dissolved earlier prior to the Oct. 25 elections and the Labor regime made no attempt to answer bitter charges of a "seattle policy" in Iran.

The last British oil workers left the big Abadan oil centre in Iran today and arrived in Basra, in neighboring Iraq, in compliance with an Iranian ultimatum.

Mr. Charles Capper, British consul-general, who also quit Iran at the Tehran government's request, predicted that the world's biggest oil refinery at Abadan will "deteriorate badly" within three or four months.

"Looting," he said, "already has started there."

K. N. Ross, a top official of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, said upon his arrival at Basra: "I am convinced the Iranians cannot run the Abadan refineries by themselves, nor are they likely to get anyone else to run them for them. The Americans won't and it's unlikely that the Russians will have the Russians run them."

Strikers Reject New Offer

Rejection of the latest offer by shipyard operators was made here last night by members of the Boilermakers' Union.

In addition, the union went on record by unanimous vote to keep picket lines in operation at two Victoria shipyards until a successful conclusion to talks can be reached.

A further meeting between the union and operators has been called for today.

Union members will hold a special meeting at Boilermakers' Hall Sunday at 2 p.m.

Britons Bitter At Expulsion

LONDON, Oct. 4 (INS)—Forty Britons expelled from Iran by plane tonight and the removal of one summoned up the general attitude: "We were kicked out—we have no pride left as a nation."

British oil worker Gerald Goldfinch said: "We are let down over this business. We could have stayed there and hung on."

Victoria's Mayor George to Retire From Public Office at End of Year

The man whom thousands of people in British Columbia and the rest of Canada have come to think of first when the city of Victoria is mentioned, Mayor Percy George, announced yesterday that he would retire from office at the end of the year.

Mayor for the past seven years, Victoria's first citizen said he would not be a candidate in the December civic elections.

Short and slight, bright and breezy, Mayor George has been nearly 25 years in public life.

His political star began rising during his early activities as a member of parent-teacher associations. He rose subsequently through the school board to city council and finally the mayoralty.

MAYORS' MAYOR

Last summer the mayors of Canadian cities from coast to coast elected him president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. Last year he was elected president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, a signal honor because it was the second time within three years that he had been called to lead the organization.

Mayor George got his first hard knocks in life as a boy of 13 when he started selling papers on the streets of London. He came to Canada as a young man and worked on an Ontario farm before coming to the west coast. He served overseas in the army during the First World War.

Mayor George is bowing out of what appears to be shaping up as a tough election battle for the office he now holds.

Ald. Aubrey West, who came close to taking the mayoralty from Mayor George two years ago, is in the race again. The

Farmers' Wives To See Board

VANCOUVER, Oct. 4 (CP)—Farmers' wives will appear before the present sitting of the provincial milk board to tell just what they have to do without because of the low milk prices.

"Farmers, like other groups, are affected by the high cost of living, as we are consumers as well as producers," E. S. Flowerdew told the board today.

He is representing the Fraser Valley special milk committee before the board hearings.

He said dairymen are selling their herds and replacing them with beef cattle "because there is less work and worry for the same returns."

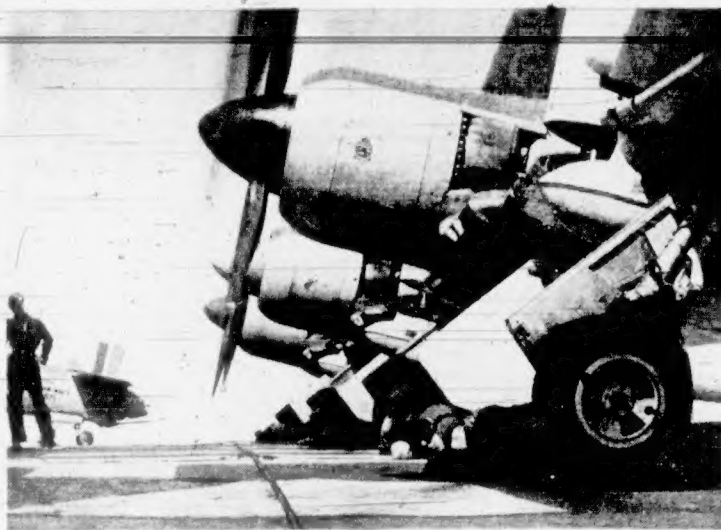

Mr. Flowerdew also told the board that unless milk producers get a 40 per cent boost in prices of fluid milk, many will be forced out of business.

Secrets Shown In Magazines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Truman said today he issued his hotly-disputed security order because a survey showed that "the newspapers and slick magazines" had published 25 per cent of the United States' secret information.

He said this is what he is trying to stop.

Demolition Of Hostel Favored

City Council's finance committee yesterday favored demolition of Prince Robert House, formerly occupied by the Navy League of Canada at the corner of Douglas and Courtney Streets.

At the same time the committee asked for a report from the building inspector on the possibility of preserving and creating a self-contained building out of a recently-constructed addition to the house.

The addition, used as an auditorium, has a seating capacity of 300. Ald. Waldo Skillings told the committee.

Recently the city was unsuccessful in attempts to attract purchase bids on the building. Opinion was expressed in committee yesterday that rather than idle the property on which the building stands might be used as a parking lot. It was suggested that salvage in the building would at least cover cost of demolition.

Cost of New Court Estimated $18,000

A combined family and juvenile court for Greater Victoria would cost approximately $18,000 a year.

This was announced yesterday at a meeting held in Spencer House, where representatives of the municipalities and some service clubs.

Costs, only roughly worked out, must be borne by the city and municipalities. It is expected that costs in unorganized provincial territory would be borne by the province.

Using the number of juvenile cases over the past few years as a basis to work from, the following proportion was worked out:

It was decided Esquimalt might pay 7 per cent of $18,000.

or $1,260; Oak Bay 10 per cent, or $1,800; Saanich 20 per cent, or $3,600; Victoria 63 per cent, or $11,340.

Provision in these figures will later be made for Central Saanich, and unorganized provincial territory.

The 18 delegates present, and chairman Lloyd McKenzie, decided that the percentages announced would only be followed for the first year of operation; after that each municipality would be charged in direct ratio to the number of cases put through the court by that municipality.

NEED SIX OFFICIALS

The Family Court committee said the minimum staff necessary to establish the court in Victoria would be a judge, a prosecutor, a clerk of the court, two probation officers and a court social worker.

The judge, to work two full days a week, it was estimated, would cost $2,400 per annum.

The clerk of the court, who would serve as stenographer, bookkeeper and officer supervisor would receive a maximum of $3,900.

A prosecutor to work one or two days a week, it was estimated would receive $1,200 per annum.

Two full-time probation officers were put down for salaries of $3,500 a year and a social worker at $3,100. Car expenses for both probation officers and the social worker were estimated at $1,000.

A motion was passed by H. K. Bate, that each delegate should take the proposed estimate back to his organization or municipality for further discussion.

It was pointed out by several people at the meeting, that the hiring of two full-time probation officers, would relieve the various municipal officers of their probation duties.

Premier Sets Ontario Vote November 22

TORONTO, Oct. 4 (CP)—Premier Leslie Frost today called an Ontario general election for Nov. 22, seeking a mandate from the province's 3,000,000 voters for the policies of his Progressive Conservative government.

The announcement came simultaneously in Toronto and in Kingston. In Toronto, Attorney-General D. H. Porter met newspaper men after a cabinet meeting and distributed copies of a 2,000-word statement prepared by the premier.

In Kingston, where he officiated at the opening of a new school, the premier made the announcement as well because the city "has so many associations with Canada's political history."

Nominations will be held Nov. 8. Ontario's Election Act calls for a two-week interval for winter elections and one week at other times of the year.

WON 53 SEATS

In the last election, June 7, 1948, the Progressive Conservatives won 53 seats in the 90-member house. The C.C.F. took 21 seats, Liberals 13 and Labor-Progressives, two. The other was won by a Liberal-Labor candidate who supported the Liberals.

It is the first election for the premier as party leader. He was elected to the post in 1949 after George Drew resigned to become national leader.

Under Mr. Drew, the party went into office in 1943 and was re-elected in 1945 and 1948. The premier served as provincial treasurer in the Drew administration.

Aged V.C. Voices Doubt About Meeting Royalty

VANCOUVER, Oct. 4 (CP)—Mickey O'Rourke, 73-year-old Victoria Cross winner in the First World War, says he will be unable to meet Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh during their visit to Vancouver.

Mickey's friends are trying to persuade him to attend the city hall presentation of British Columbia's V.C.'s, to which he has been invited, but he says no. "They wouldn't want to meet an old blatherskite like me."

Besides, my legs aren't so good and I wouldn't be able to stand up for the whole ceremony." As a clincher he added: "The seahag with all my clothes in it is being held at my last rooming house and I can't get it."

Pte. Michael James O'Rourke won his V.C. as a stretcher-bearer in 1917 when he brought 40 wounded comrades out of no man's land under fire.

He is said to have given away 60 cents out of every dollar he ever earned.

Canadian Attacks Spark New Battle

Reds Bump Into Pats, Swiftly Ripped Apart

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Oct. 5 (Friday) (CP)—A Chinese force that blundered into a Canadian battalion touched off the battle now raging along Korea's western front.

Eighth Army headquarters reported that the Chinese sent a probing force toward the Allied lines early Wednesday. They ran smack into the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who tore the enemy apart with artillery and small-arms fire.

The fighting broke out at 1:10 a.m. An hour later Allied artillery was roaring along the 40-mile western front.

Eight Army headquarters said the Patricia's at the time were forming up for an attack with the Commonwealth division of which the Canadian 25th Brigade is a part.

Later reports credited Canadian troops with making the longest gains during the two days of battle. They said Canadian troops gained two miles Wednesday and two more yesterday.

CLEANUP

West of Yonchon the Canadians engaged two Chinese companies early yesterday and pushed the Communists back. The Chinese left 30 men behind to fight a rear-guard action and the Canadians disposed of these in 20 minutes of bloody hand-to-hand fighting.

Admiral Sees Bombardment By Destroyer

TOKYO, Oct. 5 (Reuters)—Rear Admiral Wallace R. Creevy, the Royal Canadian Navy's flag officer of the Pacific Coast, has visited three Canadian destroyers in the Korean war zone.

He went along on battle missions aboard two of the vessels.

Aboard H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, Creevy watched the destroyer bombard Communist troops and gun positions in the west-coast Chinnampo area. On the same trip the Athabaskan also patrolled further north looking for Communist junks.

The Admiral was also on board H.M.C.S. Sioux during a Korean west coast mission.

Returning to Japan on H.M.S. Charley, Creevy then visited H.M.C.S. Cayuga, skippered by Cmdr. James Plumer, Canadian Far Eastern destroyer commander, and then flew back to Canada.

These reports said that, by nightfall the infantry men were dug in to prepare for fresh assaults. The reports said the Commonwealth troops had made rapid advances in the initial assaults but later encountered fierce resistance.

It was the first action of the Commonwealth Division and the Canadians fought alongside troops from Britain and Australia.

WAVES OF REDS

Chinese Reds surged down from their hilltop bunkers today and attacked U.S. western front positions in waves.

The Reds were fighting furiously to crack the Allied line, which was rolled forward as much as four miles in two days of a roaring autumn offensive.

'Extraordinary Courage' Wins Canadian D.C.M.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4 (CP)—A one-man army who fought until he could hardly stand topped the names today on a list of five Canadians decorated for gallantry in Korea.

He is Pte. Wayne Robert Mitchell of Virden, Man., a 21-year-old former hydro worker whose "extraordinary courage" in helping fight off an overwhelming Chinese attack during their April offensive brought him the coveted Distinguished Conduct Medal.

Four other men with 25th Brigade units Mitchell is a member of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry were awarded the Military Medal. In addition, 11 officers and men, all but one still alive and in Korea, were given mentions in dispatches. A Victorian, Capt. C. A. MacGillivray, 33 of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, was among them.

Despite two wounds, Mitchell Brenned one "overwhelming" Red assault to a halt largely by himself, carried a wounded man to safety despite a wound of his own, rushed a Chinese position firing the Bren from the hip to relieve a group of wounded men, covered his platoon's withdrawal under fire and refused to be evacuated after four enemy assaults.

The Military Medal-winners were L. Bdr. A. O. King, 24, of North Augusta, Ont.; Gnr. A. M. Garaghty, 23, of Rosemount, Que.; and Gnr. K. W. Gishart, 28, of Gochre River, Man., all members of the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and Pte. J. A. Sargent, 25, of Owen Sound, Ont., 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

PTE. WAYNE MITCHELL

He stayed at his post through the night, close to his Bren. "At daylight," said the citation, "Pte. Mitchell could hardly stand for loss of blood." He was flown back to medical care by helicopter.

Reds Invited To Pick Site

TOKYO, Oct. 5 (Friday) (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway invited the Communists Thursday night to pick a site in no-man's land for immediate resumption of Korean truce talks.

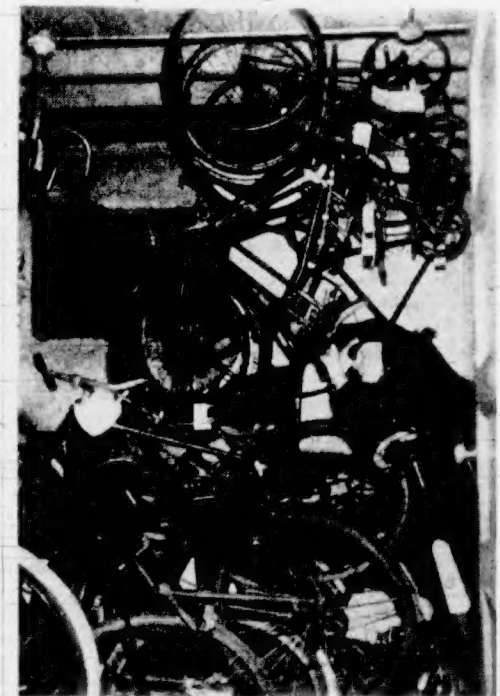

The next move now was up to the Reds again.

The Allied proposal came two hours after release here of the Reds' refusal to accept Ridgway's offer made a week ago to move the talks from Kaesong to Songhyun, a ruined village in no man's land.

City Offered $70,000 For Old Market Building

Investigation of an offer from a city real estate firm for purchase of the Public Market building on Cormorant Street for $70,000 was ordered yesterday by the finance committee.

The offer was submitted by Milton King, of King Realty, on behalf of F. T. Solomon, of Kelowna.

Mr. King intimated to the city that his client would also be interested in the purchase of the market yard at the rear of the building for use as a parking lot.

He explained it was the plan of his client to develop a modern super-market in the Market Building property.

PAY HALF CASH

The purchaser would be willing to pay half cash to the city.

Holidays Set During Visit

Royal visit holidays for provincial government employees in Vancouver, Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster have been approved by order-in-council.

Victoria's civil servants will have a holiday Oct. 22, the day Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip are in Victoria. Vancouver, Oct. 20; Nanaimo, Oct. 26, until 11 a.m.; New Westminster, Oct. 26, until 2 p.m.

for the property, the remainder over a period of five years in semi-annual instalments at five per cent interest.

Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter asked where the city would locate its main fire hall if the market building was sold. Alderman Waldo Skillings replied it might be advisable to consider decentralization of the fire department.

"The question should be investigated," said Alderman William Tindoff. "We've got to know what it's going to cost to build a new fire hall."

"A new fire hall is inevitable anyhow," commented Alderman Frank Mulliner, chairman of the fire wardens committee.

Alderman Skillings said "a real high-class super market" would be an asset to the city.

The committee voted to leave the matter in the hands of City Manager C. C. Wyatt for investigation and report.

Russian Atomic Burst Regarded as Reminder

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

It seemed like a rare coincidence Wednesday when Bobby Thomson's explosion at the Polo Grounds came simultaneously with the announcement that Russia had set off another atomic bomb. The coincidence had a field-day about it.

There was, however, a truly significant coincidence about the timing of Russia's latest experiment.

It came just as the British election campaign was being launched, and while diplomats were trying to make the last organizational arrangements for the defense of Western Europe.

Russia's atomic power has come to hold a deep meaning for London officialdom and the British people. It embodies the realization that in any future war, Britain lies horribly open to atomic attack. It was an important factor in Britain's serious opposition to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's plans for the Korean war should be fought.

It underlies what seems to be a growing attitude of appeasement in London, and contributes to divergences in British and American policies.

That is why the left-wingers of the British Labor Party can make co-operation with the U.S., which they claim will lead to war—a major issue in the election.

Announcement of the new explosion will enhance this feeling in Britain.

Sick King to Sign Dissolution Paper

LONDON, Oct. 4 (Reuters).—An ailing King, with his statesmen around his bed, tomorrow will sign the document that launches Britain's politicians on an election fight for power.

Only 11 days after a surgeon performed a dangerous operation on his lung, the King planned to sign the document that launches Britain's politicians on an election fight for power.

This entails a meeting of the privy council, the body which advises him on constitutional affairs. They are expected to meet in the King's sickroom at Buckingham Palace.

Latest medical bulletin on the ailing monarch today said: "The King continues to make good progress." Unofficial reports said, he was out of bed today for the first time since the operation.

QUEEN MAY SIGN

If doctors at the last moment decide he is not well enough to undertake the ceremony, the Queen probably will sign.

Members of the 18-month-old "stalemate" parliament assembled for the last time today.

With traditional ceremony, they joined peers in the House of Lords to hear the speech from the Throne formally closing parliament. It was read for the King by the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Jowitt.

It mentioned the unsuccessful negotiations in the "unfortunate dispute" over oil in Iran and described continued increase in production as "among the outstanding achievements of this country since the war."

Miracle of Surgery Revives Dead Veteran

EL MONTE, Cal., Oct. 4 (INS).—A 28-year-old navy veteran was restored to life through a miracle of surgery today after he was pronounced dead by two physicians following an accidental fall.

The man who cheated death is Eugene M. Hewitt of El Monte.

He collapsed late last night as he left a cafe with three friends. He fell and struck his head on the pavement.

Hewitt was rushed to the El Monte Medical Centre in an unconscious state.

Two doctors in attendance said that Hewitt had neither pulse nor respiration and he was pronounced dead.

One of the physicians, a noted chest specialist who asked that his name be withheld because of professional reasons, decided to perform a thoracotomy.

The physician made an incision in the man's chest wall above the heart. Then the specialist thrust his hand into the opening and methodically massaged Hewitt's heart.

Three minutes later there came the first sign that life had returned to Hewitt. The heart began to beat of its own accord. Soon Hewitt began to breathe. Adrenalin and oxygen were then given the young navy veteran and attendants said that he was responding satisfactorily.

The next 15 or 18 hours will tell the story, the physician said. Hewitt, he declared, would not be completely out of danger until he had passed the crisis.

Rents Higher

Living Cost Rising, Food Prices Decline

OTTAWA, Oct. 4 (CP).—Consumers were hit again in August as the cost-of-living index continued its post-war climb, but a decline in prices for a variety of food items kept the increase to the smallest since last April.

The index jumped 0.9 points to a record 189.8 from 188.9, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Prices were lower for a range of vegetables, including potatoes, carrots, cabbage, turnips, onions, pork shoulder cuts and lamb; bananas, various fish products; and vegetable shortening.

These more than offset higher prices for beef, bacon, butter, chicken, eggs, cocoa, oranges and canned vegetables.

But rents were higher. So were woolen goods, footwear, coal and coke, dishes, hardware, floor coverings, transportation and recreation costs.

Former Nazi Receives Snub From Canadian

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 4 (CP).—A senior Canadian official of the United Nations rebuked a former Nazi bigwig and refused to shake his hand at a social function Wednesday night because of the German's wartime record.

The Canadian, Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, former deputy minister of mines and resources in the Dominion government, is said to have told Hjalmar Schacht at a private reception: "I shall have nothing to do with you."

Keenleyside, now head of the U.N. technical assistance administration, is visiting Indonesia. Schacht, whose financial juggling helped Hitler build a vast war machine, is in Indonesia to advise its government on financial reforms.

The two met at a reception given by Sir Mirza Ismail, the technical assistance administration's resident representative in Jakarta.

The Canadian said he felt no U.N. official could possibly fraternize with a man who represented so completely something the U.N. was organized to oppose.

Canada Has Atom Bomb Detectors

OTTAWA, Oct. 4 (CP).—Canada has in Ottawa and in at least one remote Arctic outpost devices capable of recording distant atomic explosions, officials said today.

But both they and External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson indicated it was through other means that Canada first learned that Russia had exploded her second atom bomb a few days ago.

Mr. Pearson touched off speculation by a press conference statement that Canada was informed last week of the explosion "as soon as it was reasonably certain from detection devices" that one had occurred.

He added that Canada has her own detection devices but that they are not as highly developed or extensive as those of the United States.

"Did Canada's devices pick up reactions from the explosion?" he was asked.

"I don't want to say," replied Mr. Pearson. Then he added that all western governments knew that an explosion had taken place in Russia before it was announced yesterday in Washington.

The explosion itself, he said, had been announced by official Ottawa ever since the first Soviet blast more than two years ago. He saw in it no cause either for comfort or alarm.

An Envious Record

IF MAYOR PERCY GEORGE carries out his announced intention of retiring from the chief magistracy of Victoria at the end of this year he will carry with him the sincere regret and the profound respect of a host of friends in this city. For more than 21 years Mr. George has given forthright and exemplary public service at a considerable drain upon himself and his health. His record in municipal office alone has never been topped in this community, including as it has every elective office within the gift of Victoria's citizens on police, school, aldermanic and other boards and their subsidiaries.

In latter years Mayor George has carried the name of the city to wider fields, notably in connection with the work of the Canadian Association of Mayors and Reeves, of which he became the leading executive. Many, regardless of their political affiliations, will regret that his recent excursion into provincial politics met the bad luck that it did. There will be no disposition anywhere to visit that result personally upon His Worship. It is not likely that any Coalition candidate could have won the recent Esquimalt by-election under all the circumstances of that contest.

Mayor George may rest assured that he has established very firmly in the public's mind a long and honorable service in the peoples' interest, highlighted by his own intrinsic qualities of integrity and fair play. It would be unfortunate if such an extended and proved body of experience in municipal affairs were to be lost now to this province. If the Coalition government, for whom he placed at hazard his civic career, does not take advantage of this opportunity of strengthening its Department of Municipal Affairs it will be lacking in loyalty as well as sound common sense.

Whatever may be the sequel, if Mayor George lays down the City Seal at the close of this year, it will be at the end of a municipal career for which he need never bow the knee or apologize.

IN justice to our old friend Caddy, last seen leaving Brentwood Bay in disgust after a visitor had taken his picture and then let the camera drop into the water, I feel I should write this piece. I might to Mr. Charles Graves, of Gloucester Place, London, England. Mr. Graves, you see, has written what he claims to be "The Truth About the Sea-Serpent," and his claim needs amendment. He doesn't even mention Caddy!

True enough he wrote this essay some time ago, in 1935, to be precise, but that does not excuse his lapse. Cadborosaurus, as all real students of the deep know well, has been showing his hump in these parts at least since Captain Vancouver sailed around Ten Mile Point. And that's a long time ago.

Mr. Graves says he scoured news, paper, offices, ancient journals, old and new works of reference, and found only three well-established sea-serpents with unimpeachable records. He should have visited The Colonist morgue.

Caddy, of course, is unique, and not to be classed with other alleged marine serpents. For instance, Mr. Graves' researches disclosed that for some reason all sea-serpents travel, whether on land or sea, at 15 miles per hour. These water-snakes of his must have been terrible slowpokes. Why, not so long ago Caddy was clocked off Trial Island doing a comfortable 35 knots, merely a cruising speed for our trusty old sea pal.

Let me tell you about Mr. Graves' serpentine lore, however. I have no compunction about borrowing from him since he just borrowed from somebody else.

Those three unimpeachable he mentions. The first is the sea-serpent of Stronsay, one of the Orkney Islands. It relinquished the ghost in 1808, perhaps because no tourist bureau gave it any publicity. It was 55 feet long, as big around as a Shetland pony, and had a long mane. The next time you are in Edinburgh you can check this for yourself for the fragments are on exhibit in the Royal Scottish Museum.

Number two came 40 years later, the Daedalus serpent, so-called because it was seen by the crew of H.M.S. Daedalus as this frigate neared the Cape of Good Hope. Sixty feet of its body lay in a straight line on the surface of the water, and, 'tis said, another 40 feet lay under water, although that's an assumption. In any case if Caddy were to unroll his humps and straighten out he would be all of 100 feet as you know.

The third of the species Mr. Graves accepts as gospel is the Valhalla sea-serpent. In 1905 two scientists were cruising off Brazil in Lord Crawford's yacht of this name when they saw, quote: "a huge serpent-like dark-green body showing six feet of fringed back above the surface, and three feet more in front of the frill, part of an eight-foot neck. It had a turtle-like head and a white belly."

There was a dark shadow behind that suggested ominous possibilities out of sight, so the scientists shook like aspen, just as did the hands of the photographer who let Caddy's portrait sink into the Brentwood mud.

The other sea-serpents mentioned by Mr. Graves are, as I have indicated, apocryphal. He doesn't believe in them.

A Bishop Egde saw one off Greenland in 1734. It had a long sharp snout and blew water like a whale. Twelve years later a Captain De Ferry described a monster with a head like a horse, black eyes, and a white mane. The Bishop of Bergen came next with a sea-serpent able to devour several oxen at a time. In fact, for a while the clergy dominated the serpentine scene. A minister in Elze saw a sea-serpent 80 feet long in 1809. Sixty-two years later the Rev. J. Brown of Kilke spotted one with a head like a horse. Two Scots ministers claimed one for the West of Scotland.

In 1904 the captain of a French gunboat put his binoculars on an enormous turtle-headed monster off Hainan, equipped with a 100-foot tail, spotted like a leopard and able to blow twin jets of water 50 feet high. Then there was a remarkable fishy object seen in mid-ocean by the second officer of the Corinthian in 1913. This thing had bonny blue eyes, cried like a baby, possessed a neck 20 feet long, and had long, long ears.

There was a sea-serpent that grew a moustache, and there was one that used to steal cans of milk and food—at Amherst Island, Ontario! Caddy, a gentle soul who wouldn't deprive any landlubber of his daily lunch, wouldn't be proud of his Canadian brother, I'm sure.

If Caddy could read, and who is to say whether he can or not, he would be much amused by Mr. Graves' volume, "The Price of Pleasure" as it is called. For all the while these poor specimens were showing off at various parts of the globe Caddy was calmly circumnavigating Vancouver Island, secure in the majesty of his being and, of course, the only real authenticated sea-serpent alive.

Russia and the Italian Peace Treaty

By W. N. EWER

LONDON. The Russians are, of course, already declaring that the three-power proposals about the Italian Peace Treaty are a prelude to breaking the treaty and violating international law. They are nothing of the sort. They are an attempt to deal with the always difficult problem of revising a treaty in the light of changed circumstances.

The fundamental thesis—that a treaty remains in force until revised or abrogated by consent—is untouched. It is laid down in the London Treaty of 1871, of which the occasion was the Russian violation of the Treaty of Paris of 1856. It runs thus: "It is an essential principle of the law of nations that no power can liberate itself from the engagements of a treaty nor modify the stipulations thereof unless with the consent of the contracting powers by means of an amicable arrangement."

At the same time it is universally recognized that changing circumstances can render the treaty out of date even before the expiration of its agreed term of duration. As Bismarck put it, "treaties are mortal." And it is recognized that there is an equitable claim to revision by negotiation, which it would be both wrong and impolite for either party to deny. Britain, for example, has expressed its readiness to negotiate a revision of the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty of 1936, though that treaty itself lays down that it shall not be revised before 1956.

But special difficulty arises or can arise in the case of multilateral treaties concluded by a number of signatories. It can be argued that, in strict law, any change in such treaties must need the consent of every single signatory; that any one party to such a treaty can prevent any revision of it, even though desired by all others and even though the motives of refusal may have nothing to do with the merits of the case, but might be a desire to extort concessions in other fields as the price of assent.

This is the difficulty in this case of the Italian Peace Treaty of 1946. Five years have passed since it was signed. They have been five years of stable democratic government and of peaceful international co-operation on her part. Her claim to ask for a revision, for the removal of clauses and provisions applicable rather to her fascist past than to her democratic future, is a strong one. It is made stronger by the signing of the Japanese treaty. Italy can make a justifiable claim that she is an allied co-belligerent at the close of the war is entitled to at least as favorable treatment as Japan.

Most of the signatories of the treaty, with the exception of the Soviet Union and its associates, are willing to agree to the revisions which Italy appears to desire. It would indeed be grotesque if they were debarred from doing so by a new species of Soviet veto. More so since the Soviet Union has committed at and encouraged flagrant breaches of the Bulgarian, Hungarian and Rumanian peace treaties by those countries, without even an attempt to secure revision by consent.

It seems important to note what these changes are which the Italian government desires and to which Britain, France and the U.S.A. are willing to agree. The first concerns the preamble and therefore would have no operative effect. It is merely a matter of agreeing to regard as null and void some references to Italy's fascist period which the present Italian government rather resents having still formally recorded.

The second is of a somewhat similar nature. There are "political clauses" which, for example, lay down that no Italian is to be prosecuted or molested for having supported the allied cause during the war. These, too, the Italian government regards as not only superfluous but also insulting.

The third is, of course, an important one. It is the removal of all restrictions on the strength of the Italian armed forces, which are contained in the "military clauses". That is a question of very real substance. But it should be noted that the treaty does not envisage these military clauses remaining permanently in force. Article 46 provides that they can be "modified in whole or in part" by the Security Council after Italy has become a member of the United Nations. And there is little question that they would already have been so modified but for the Soviet veto which has been used to prevent Italy's admission. So that, in effect, what is now proposed carries out the intention of the treaty itself.

The action of the three governments, then is based on these considerations. First, that there is a very strong case for revision. Second, that in the most important matter such revision was envisaged in the treaty. Third, that Soviet obstruction prevents the orthodox method of revision from functioning. Therefore, in order that justice shall be done, other methods must be employed.

What will the Russians do now? Their protests will no doubt be more than vigorous and their refusal to co-operate can be taken for granted. But if they formally allege a breach of treaty, their procedure is laid down in Article 87. They can refer the "dispute" to the four—American, British, French and Russian—ambassadors in Rome. If the four ambassadors cannot resolve it, there should be a commission of three, one appointed by each party, the third either by agreement or by the secretary general of the United Nations. And the decision of the majority is binding.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK
While Visiting Britain

If anybody were to ask me my opinion of the telephone service in Britain, my instinctive answer would be "punk." Nothing so confuses and bewilders a Canadian as his first encounter with a British telephone. For the first few times, you get nothing at all. After a few more attempts, you succeed in getting some of the weirdest sounds that ever entered your ear. After re-reading the printed instructions and getting a few friends to explain the matter to you, you try again, and about the third try, you get a female human voice.

But all she seems to say is a word that sounds like "be-anna-to!" If you beg pardon and ask her to repeat, she repeats, a little firmly, "be-anna-to!"

So you get somebody else to make the call for you.

But there are respects in which the British telephones are simply wonderful. After 12 years of war and peace, with enormous problems of material supply and maintenance, they have a telephone system that works its intricate way amidst a maze of great cities and towns, with what actually is wonderful efficiency. Between 6 p.m. and 10.30 for 27 cents you can make a long distance call from anywhere to anywhere in the United Kingdom. From John O'Groats to Land's End. The rest of the day, long distance calls anywhere, the most expensive, are under 60 cents. Recently I was in a tiny village in the Highlands of Scotland, at the end of the line, when I got a cable informing me of a very nasty motor car accident to one of my family. The family were gathered in a hospital in a strange city, not at my home. I picked up the phone, put a call through from the Highland village to that Canadian city hospital. In 12 minutes, because it was an "emergency" call, I was speaking to my family. It cost me about $12.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—The Detroit Hockey Club and the Patrick Brothers, Frank and Lester, yesterday completed the deal by which the Victoria Cougars hockey team was transferred to Detroit for $100,000.

50 YEARS AGO—A never-failing sign of good times is now to be observed in Victoria—the great scarcity of laborers. The utmost difficulty is being experienced by contractors and others desirous of securing men.

85 YEARS AGO—Cheap bread! Mr. B. Derham, the Johnson Street baker, advertises three loaves of fine bread for a quarter of a dollar.

Post Office Lets Canada Down

A CANADIAN PRESS report from Ottawa quotes an anonymous spokesman for the post office department as admitting that the department is not "completely happy" about the look of the special 4-cent stamp to be issued on Oct. 26 in commemoration of the Royal visit. From the enlarged reproduction of the stamp printed in yesterday's Colonist it is plain that government officials are still masters of the technique of understatement.

It is customary to mark an historic event or anniversary by issuing a special stamp depicting the meaning and spirit of the occasion. In this stamp both are lost. Canadians look forward to the coming tour as one of the happiest events of the half-century, but the impression likely to be conveyed to the world by this philatelic misfit is that if there were any happiness the Royal visitors did not share it.

Princess Elizabeth's serene and winsome expression is distorted in the print to one reflecting disappointment verging on despair. She looks ready to cry. Prince Philip's portrait gives the impression that he has detected something wrong with the drabs. The general effect created is that the two have looked on Canada and Canadians with anything but pleasure or approval. For that reason it may be fortunate that there is nothing anywhere on the stamp to record a visit to the Dominion at all.

The post office's attempts to put the blame for these defects on officials of the Royal household, on the engravers, the time element and everything but itself are not good enough. The intention of Princess Elizabeth and her consort to visit Canada was known in ample time for the production of a commemorative stamp doing full justice to a joyous event. Instead the post office proposes to issue something which, were it not for the slight to the Royal Family, might better be consigned to the incinerator.

Letters to the editor on any topic of general interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted in whole, or in part, except over the proper signature and address of the writer. Unqualified correspondence cannot be returned.

BLIND BOAT BUILDER

Sir—I would like to thank The Colonist for sponsoring me and my boat building efforts in the Vancouver Island Sportsman Show. It was indeed a great privilege to be sponsored by such a worthy organization as The Daily Colonist.

It has always been my desire to show the public that so-called handicaps are non-existent, and if an individual wishes to do anything he can, regardless. The Daily Colonist has given me this opportunity for which I am deeply indebted.

Again thanking you for a great kindness and consideration.

ARTHUR G. BARNES,

3586 Quadra Street, Victoria, B.C.

FOR FULL DISCLOSURE

Sir, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer would be well advised to make public the details of the investigation into the swindle probe. The probe was instigated by pressure from the public, and the public is entitled to receive full reports.

No mention has yet been made concerning the whereabouts of the stolen funds. To ascertain this was one of the main objects of the probe.

An open report would remove any doubts or suspicions that there is any hush about the affair, and Mr. W. A. Scott, being one of the victims to the extent of $9,000, is certainly entitled to more than a flippant brush-off advising him to get Scotland Yard on the job.

It is gratifying to note that the Victoria police commission, which ordered the investigation, intend to see the R.C.M.P. report and make a thorough investigation. This is some intimation that the body is not going to be allowed to be hurriedly buried, even if it smells.

DONALD H. SEYMOUR,

HELPED LOST DOG

Sir—Regarding the news item concerning sheep-chasing dogs in today's Colonist, I would appreciate it if you would print the following. Some weeks ago while visiting in View Royal our Scotty disappeared and it was several days before we received word from the S.P.C.A. of his whereabouts.

It appears that Angus strayed on to Mr. Aylwin's property at Atkins Road. For three days while trying to find his owner Mr. Aylwin cared for Angus, before turning him over to the S.P.C.A. It is quite evident that Mr. Aylwin would never shoot a dog unless it was actually caught destroying his sheep. We appreciated his kindness and must give credit where credit is due.

PEDESTRIAN LIGHTS

Sir—With Victoria's traffic problems in the news, it is perhaps timely to point out that many accidents could be avoided if pedestrian lights were installed which hold motor traffic until people are out of the way. I hope everyone will press for this reform here, following the example of Vancouver and other cities. A pedestrian proceeding with the green light can at present so easily be in trouble by cars turning to the right or left. I saw such an accident at Yates and Quadra last Friday when a boy of 13 was sent flying through the air, from a pedestrian crossing, to land unconscious in the wet roadway, miraculously still alive. In this age of quick get-away modern cars a misunderstanding means that the pedestrian gets the worst of it.

Without suggesting who was to blame in the case I quoted, this boy's life would not have been imperilled if the proper authorities would put pedestrian lights at traffic crossings. I would take the opportunity of paying warm tribute to the police who so promptly appeared with ambulance on the scene of the above-mentioned accident and most of all to recall the stoicism and fortitude of the lad who, having regained consciousness, was obviously in great pain. After 35 years of driving without an accident I share with other veteran drivers the nightmare of Victoria.

Police Seek Murder Clues In Shooting

R.C.M.P. officers are investigating the murder of Albert Thorsen, 72, of Savory near Burns Lake, B.C., who was found

Police here said that death was due to a gunshot wound in the base of the head.

Thorsen was discovered by a close friend who had to break into the cabin through a door that was padlocked from the outside.

An R.C.M.P. photographer and fingerprint men were on the scene yesterday along with other investigators.

Pegg Released On $5,000 Bail

Sidney Pegg, 46, Simms, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Gladys Frew, 60, 520 Walter Avenue, was remanded for one week without plea in Saanich police court yesterday.

Inquest into the accident will be held at 10 a.m. today at McCall Brothers' Funeral Parlor.

Pegg was released on $5,000 bail. Jack Rutan is counsel for the accused.

Man Pays $100 For Failure To Clear Yard

L. D. Foxgord, 1144 Queens, was fined a total of $100 on two charges of keeping a junkyard without a permit by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court yesterday.

"This has been dragging on too long and I told you before I would be severe with you, if it wasn't cleaned up," the magistrate said.

Samuel Smith, 840 Johnson Street, was fined $300 for unlawfully selling beer.

Roy Johnson, 1127 Catherine, was fined $40 for driving a car while his license was under suspension.

Last Rites Tomorrow For Early Victorians

Funeral services for two old-timers of Greater Victoria will be held Saturday afternoon at Sands Mortuary.

At 1:15 p.m. services will be held for Percy William Fisher, 70, a resident of Saanich for 40 years until his death Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. P. Cummins of Colquitz.

Mr. Fisher was born at St. Michaels, Lancashire. He is survived by a son, Thomas, of Victoria; three daughters, Mrs. Elwell of Saanich; Mrs. Patrick Cummins, Colquitz; and Miss Joyce Fisher, Victoria; two brothers, Thomas, of Victoria, and Septimus, in England; and one sister, Marie, of New York.

Canon S. J. Wickens will officiate at the funeral, and interment will be in Edgewood-Burial Park.

At 3 p.m. services will be held for Mrs. Amy Mary Harrison, who died Wednesday at the family residence, 815 Pembroke Street. Fifty-four years old, Mrs. Harrison was born in Saanich and resided in this area all her life. She is survived by her husband, William; four brothers, Harry McHugh, Seattle; William

Oak Bay Council Cited Bad Example

Oak Bay residents are not fully informed of the public business carried out by members of the Oak Bay council, Arthur Stott, editorial writer of the Victoria Daily Times, said last night.

He and Seth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist, were guest speakers at the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club meeting at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Mr. Stott, speaking on the freedoms of press, cited the Oak Bay council as an example of lack of freedom.

"Its reeve and councillors, and certainly no one can question their sincerity—believe they can get along with their business without too much interference," he said.

Mr. Stott said issues are decided by council members in committee and the results are then presented to the full board for "ratification."

"Because of the system that is used the public is not kept thoroughly informed at all times," he added.

The writer pointed out that the councillors have a point of view opposed to "certain other schools of thought" which believe the public should be given an opportunity to know all that happens and to form independent judgments on the evidence placed before it.

Mr. Halton, also speaking on freedom of the press, said there were too many restrictions and impediments for the press to be completely free.

Clark Gable Files Suit for Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 4 (CP).—Clark Gable filed suit for divorce today from the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, amid reports that she is planning to demand a big settlement from him in California.

Gable wasn't present for the filing. The complaint was simple, alleging cruelty.

The United States is estimated to have 58 per cent of the world's total telephones, with 26 phones per 100 persons.

"There are too many large and small public bodies meeting behind closed doors," he said.

The newly-appointed publisher of the Colonist said he believed that governments, on all levels, and public bodies of all sorts, do not have the right to privacy of action.

"We believe their deeds are public deeds, and we strive to make them so," he said.

The medical director of the United States' largest hospital for drug addicts says in a Chicago dispatch that the number of juvenile addicts in the U.S. jumped 2,000 per cent between 1947

Dr. Victor H. Vogel of the U.S. Public Health Service hospital at Lexington, Ky., said hospital admissions for narcotics of all ages more than doubled in 1950, and probably would total 4,200 this year at Lexington alone.

Medicine

In London, the British Medical Journal quotes Dr. Clement Price-Thomas, the surgeon who operated on King George, on the subject of pneumonectomy, the cutting away of a lung. The Journal said it was generally accepted that, in the treatment of patients with cancer of the lung, pneumonectomy offered "the best hope of long survival." The article did not mention the royal operation.

In Montreal, the annual convention of the Montreal Medical-Chirurgical Society was told yesterday that a partial or complete surgical removal of a lung, such as was recently performed on the King, now can be done with comparative safety.

Trade and Industry

From Ottawa comes word that Canada's long-range and outspoken campaign against British import controls has collapsed on account of Britain's worsening financial crisis. Trade and economic officials in the capital have disclosed that Canada no longer will press for "wholesale relaxation" of the controls which hit at Canadian exports.

John R. Suran, vice-president and director of Standard Oil Company, says in Calgary that the growth of Canadian manufacturing will exceed the rate in the U.S. in some cases in the next few years.

From Here and There

A London dispatch says seven ships, five of them warships, will be posted at 200-mile intervals across the Atlantic to guard the track of the plane carrying Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada Monday. Two will be warships already on the route. One warship, the frigate La Hulloise, is an R.C.N. ship, the rest British.

Letters and parcels for Canada's 27th Brigade after it leaves for Europe next month, says an Ottawa dispatch, must carry the name, number, rank and unit of the soldier to whom it is addressed, and sent to C.A.P.O. 5030, care of the Postmaster, Montreal.

Sailors Survive Ordeal After Drifting Six Days

LOUISBURG, N.S., Oct. 4 (CP).—A saga of heartbreak and grim courage was told tonight by three near-starved Nova Scotia fishermen who reached land after drifting helplessly on the Atlantic Ocean for six days and nights in an open boat.

Capt. Francis Corkum, 31, Morris Burke, 31, and Joe Richardson, 23, staggered ashore from their dory near here today, their strength waning from hunger and thirst. Richardson collapsed when he got his feet on dry land. They were taken to hospital.

The trio left nearby Port Morien last Friday to haul in trawls. Their 45-foot Cape Breton Island boat Inez Heloise developed engine trouble and began to drift towards Scatarie Island.

Friday night, the fishermen sighted a ship. They let go gasoline flares and signalled with an electric light but the ship kept on course.

Sunday night, the small craft's stern twisted off in a 45-knot gale. The crew scrambled into a dory with no food nor water, and with only the clothes they wore. The Inez Heloise Islander went down in a few minutes.

The dory was equipped only with a compass, foghorn and gasoline flares.

Near exhaustion, the men rowed from Sunday night until Tuesday evening, and then gave up the struggle and drifted aimlessly.

Wednesday, a "blessed rain" came and they were able to capture some of it in the base of their compass.

Burke, who like the captain is a native of Port Bickerton, refused his portion and passed it to his companions. There was only enough to dampen their parched lips and throats. Richardson is from Canoe.

The other incident on Wednesday was when a plane was seen passing out to sea. They signalled frantically with a shirt but the pilot didn't see.

Finally, their hands and faces raw and their strength all but spent, the fishermen made landfall at Ennington Cove, three miles west of here, today.

Victim Demands Return Of Fraud Probe Papers

Swindle victim W. A. Scott has asked Attorney-General Gordon Wismer to return all documents relating to an investigation of the activities of Clyde Gilles, Scott, defrauded of $9,000 by Gilles, said in his letter to the attorney-general, "I hereby request that each and every document I have submitted to those to whom it has been referred be turned to me immediately."

He further suggested a meeting before the city police commission of himself and an "unprejudiced" committee to carry out an investigation "without fear or favor."

He asked that the R.C.M.P. report on Gilles' activities be made available.

Gilles and city lawyer Percival J. Walls received preliminary terms as a result of swindle charges made by Scott some time ago.

Scott, in a sharply worded letter to Attorney-General Wismer, further said that:

"You have drawn negative conclusions from positive observations" as a result of the nationwide R.C.M.P. probe of alleged swindles.

He said there had been a "wealth of incriminating information and documents already submitted."

Mr. Scott said that the public was being misled by a statement that no more charges can be laid against those who were either directly or indirectly parties to the swindles.

He said Mr. Wismer had exceeded his jurisdiction and authority "by attempting to make a personal and final decision on what was to be a 'public investigation' on behalf of the swindled public."

Plans for Junior High Will Go to Department

QUALICUM BEACH, Oct. 4.—Long-awaited plans for the junior high school to be built at Parkville will be submitted to the Department of Education on Oct. 15.

The announcement was made at the weekly meeting of the board of Qualicum School District No. 69 following a surprise visit from architect C. B. K. Van Norman of Vancouver.

School board members had expressed considerable concern about the delay in the plans in view of the fact that preliminary work on construction of the

Deadline Set At Month End For Purchase

ALBERNI, Oct. 4.—The department of lands is prepared to allow the city of Alberni until Oct. 31 to determine whether the city desires to buy two potential park sites on the Sprout and Samass Rivers.

The notification from the department follows a letter from the council asking for a further period of time in which to decide whether the city wished to purchase these areas. The matter has been referred to the civic lands committee for investigation.

Council has been hesitant in accepting the lots as the city is unable to give the required guarantee that work will begin at once to convert the areas into parks.

The fire broke out a few minutes after the 100 department employees left for the day. A small working force of Airway Traffic Control employees escaped the rapidly-spreading flames by leaping from second-story windows.

Officials were particularly concerned over loss of the records and stocks of radio communications equipment stored in the building for airports in the maritime provinces.

Fire Destroys Documents Of Department

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 4 (C.P.).—Fire tonight destroyed the maritime district offices of the Department of Transport at near by Lakeburn, causing damage estimated at close to $1,500,000.

A two-story, 400 by 300-foot wooden structure, the building was a total loss. Records kept by the department and described by officials as irreplaceable were lost in the flames.

The fire broke out a few minutes after the 100 department employees left for the day. A small working force of Airway Traffic Control employees escaped the rapidly-spreading flames by leaping from second-story windows.

Officials were particularly concerned over loss of the records and stocks of radio communications equipment stored in the building for airports in the maritime provinces.

Crewless Ship Found Drifting

HALIFAX, Oct. 4 (C.P.).—The smouldering hull of a three-masted schooner was found drifting off Newfoundland's west coast early today. The crew safely reached shore.

A message received at Corner Brook, Nfld., several hours after the Alford and Emily was located said the crew landed at Bellfleur last night.

Bellfleur is about 18 miles south of the spot where the burning schooner was found.

The 197-ton craft, owned by A. W. Payne of Curling, Nfld., was burning fore and aft with only one of her masts still standing when spotted by the tug Lillian.

The message received at Corner Brook said the crew members—numbering about seven—landed last night but gave no further details.

It was presumed, however, that they abandoned ship after trying to control the fire.

Pranksters Move Lamps to Houses

Empress Avenue was lit up like a Christmas tree Thursday. Albert Webster, 1030 Empress, told city police some boys had put red lanterns from a nearby excavation on several doorsteps on the street. Police returned the lanterns to their original position.

Wall Street Lolls Along With Interests Divided

By AP and CP

Wall Street divided its attention between the World Series and the Stock Exchange yesterday and simply let the market drift quietly along a narrow mixed course.

A terrific amount of indecision in the market came from selling and switching to cash in profits.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 10 cents at the close. Yesterday it was at the 1951 peak, the best since 1930.

Curbs prices were mixed with trading coming to 600,000 shares as compared with 620,000 shares Wednesday.

Large turnovers, base metals and producing golds drew interest.

Volume for the session was about 5,600,000 shares.

Refining oils continued to form the market's strongest section.

MONTREAL MIXED

Support lagged in afternoon dealings and stock prices moved mixed toward the close on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Changes ranged to about a point in either direction.

Mines and western oils followed the earlier mixed price path. Trading was active.

VANCOUVER VARIOUS

Oils continued to move ahead, base metals were irregular and golds were unchanged on the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

WINNIPEG ACTIVE

Course grain prices were irregular and lower during a fairly active session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

In the early trade, some buying appeared to result from unfavorable weather in the Prairie grain belt.

Commercial demand was less aggressive and there were increased hedging sales. The market also reflected a decline in U.S. markets.

Cost of Span Survey Stated to Be $2,500

Cost of a complete survey of the physical condition of the Point Elliot bridge will be $2,500, according to a memorandum presented to the city's public-works committee by A. L. Carruthers, consulting engineer for the P.G.E. Railway.

The memorandum contained conditions under which Mr. Carruthers will undertake the survey for the city. The engineer and his associates are prepared to furnish plans of changes and reinforcements which may be proposed.

Legion Seeks Big Turnout

The Esquimalt Legion is asking its members to turn out for the annual dinner and dance on Sunday, Oct. 21, at 4 p.m. and on Monday morning for the Royal visit to the Parliament Buildings. Berets and medals will be worn and any member available to parade, it is asked to register at the Legion, 622 Admirals Road.

The executive regrets to announce the postponement of the dinner that was to be held on Saturday, Oct. 6.

A preview of colored slides from all parts of the world, sent for the 13th International Salon Exhibition of Photography, will be shown in the Legion Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m. The general public are invited.

Car Leaves Identification

A 15-year-old motorist turned himself in to city police yesterday after being sought for a hit-and-run accident in which his rear license plate was left at the scene.

His car was alleged to have struck another at Mission Bay Government, turning it on its side. Driver of the abandoned car was Jacob H. Mathison, Aberdeen, Wash. He was uninjured.

Fraud Charge Read in Court As Trial Opens

Charge of obtaining money by false pretenses was read against Clifford W. Knibbs in Assize Court yesterday as his trial opened late in the afternoon before Mr. Justice J. M. Coady.

Knibbs is charged with obtaining $735 from Julia Hall, Shavigan Lake by false pretenses with intent to defraud.

Ronald Grant is acting as defense counsel and A. de la Phillips, for the prosecution.

The trial which barely got under way yesterday will continue today.

Flying Squad Mailmen Will Test New Plan

OTTAWA, Oct. 4 (C.P.) Mail deliveries by flying squads of letter carriers speeded to delivery areas in truck will start next month in some of Canada's larger cities as an experimental basis.

M. J. Turnbull, deputy postmaster-general, said today.

Purpose of the new plan is to speed delivery of mail and lighten the burden of those postmen carrying heavy loads for long distances.

Montreal and Toronto will be the only centres tested at the start, Mr. Turnbull said. The scheme will be carried out under all weather conditions and if it proves worthwhile it will spread to other major centres.

Qualicum News

Qualicum, B.C., Oct. 5 (AP)—The town of Qualicum, B.C., was the scene of a fire which destroyed a large building, the town's main shopping center, today. The fire, which broke out in the early afternoon, was caused by a gas leak in a restaurant. The building, which was a three-story structure, was completely destroyed. The fire department arrived within minutes, but the damage was too great. The town's main shopping center was closed today. The fire department is still investigating the cause of the fire.

SURF GETS WASHES TWICE AS SWEET FAR, FAR CLEANER

YOU CAN TELL
BY THE SMELL

If it's Surf-clean...
It's really clean

Ordinary Suds

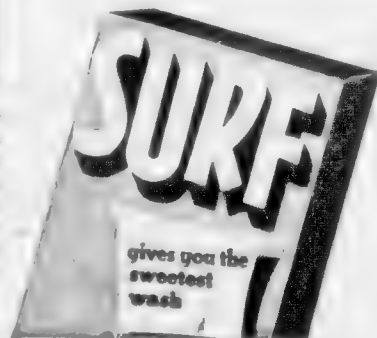

You can tell by the smell if your clothes are clean. Ordinary suds leave traces of SOAP SCUM, smelly grease and dirt deep in the fibers. Clothes CAN'T SMELL SWEET because they aren't really clean! And left in dirt greys down white wash. Try Surf—see why so many women are switching to Surf!

Surf Suds

Surf gets out every trace of smelly grease and dirt. Clothes smell TWICE AS SWEET because they are deep clean, through and through clean! Prove it yourself—smell your Surf-washed clothes. There's NO "DIRTY CLOTHES" ODOR. Just the good sweet smell of cleanness—even when clothes are dried indoors!

Des Moines Pioneering Combines Hope In Push-Button Parking To Take Title In Sixth Game

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 4. (AP)—Des Moines is spending $600,000 on a pioneer push-button parking project—the first of its kind in the United States.

The city has invested in a new elevator-type building for parking cars. The attractive, nine-story, glass-enclosed structure is nearing completion in downtown Des Moines.

Unlike the conventional parking building in which the car is driven up ramps, this structure is equipped with elevators and cranes to carry cars up and over to their stalls.

An operator pushes a button and the car is moved into a parking space—three, four, nine stories up.

TOURING MODEL

The idea was developed by V. C. Bowser, 57, head of a Ballou, more engineering firm. For eight years he has promoted his elevator parking building, touring the country with a model.

Bowser explains his structure this way: Imagine two sets of bookshelves placed face to face and separated by a space in which the elevator is located. Each shelf represents a garage floor holding cars.

Elevator and crane operate simultaneously in moving your car to the designated floor and laterally to the desired stall. The cranes move the entire elevator shaft and assembly.

JUST ONE MINUTE

In one minute, with one button pushed, your car can be parked, says Bowser.

On the ground floor, the cashier, through a system of electric circuits between elevator panels and a similar panel in the office, can tell which stalls are vacant or filled and can tell attendants which cars are wanted.

The Des Moines building has three elevators. It will have space for parking approximately 430 cars.

In Sixth Game

VANCOUVER, Oct. 4. (CP)—Vancouver Combines, leading the Canadian lacrosse final three games to two, hope to take the Mann Cup tomorrow night.

At Kerrisdale Arena, where the boards are dry and fast, the Combines will meet Peterborough Petes in the sixth game of the best-of-seven final.

Combines, who Wednesday moved down the Petes with a 15-10 score, will likely display the same lineup and the Petes are not expected to make any changes.

But the easterners want one change—a change of referees. Coach Don Crowe of Peterborough made known today he will demand a change of officials.

"They must have scraped the bottom of the barrel for Dickinson and Folka," he said.

Mrs. Cotton Wins

Colwood Tourney

Mrs. W. Cotton carded an even 100 at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club yesterday to win the Helen Crowe Cup for the women's "B" championship with a 54-hole score of 309. Mrs. H. E. Brown was runner-up with 320.

Mrs. Crowe presented the cup to the winner and also awarded Mrs. H. E. Vaio, Mrs. R. L. Poole and Miss Mildred Mahoney, low gross winners of each of the three rounds, with prizes. The first round of the business women's tournament for the Lawson Bowl will be played at the Colwood course Sunday.

Rail Unions Seeking Bonus

TORONTO, Oct. 4. (CP)—Claude Beckerton, special representative of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.B.R.E.), said today that 19 unions, representing 124,000 employees of four railways, have submitted demands for a cost-of-living bonus to offset rising living costs.

He said no specific amount has been set in the demands, the unions preferring to have the figure reached through negotiations. Railways involved are the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway and the Ontario Northland Railways.

Mr. Beckerton said that similar demands were being made by the joint negotiating committee for 17 A.F.L.-affiliated unions of which Frank Hall, international vice-president of the Railway and Steamship Clerks Union, is chairman.

TOUR RUSS AREAS

LONDON, Oct. 4. (CP)—A Canadian trade-union delegation has returned to Moscow after visiting Stalingrad and Sochi, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Brewers Win Little Series

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 4. (INS)—Outfielder Luis Olmo hit a bases-loaded game-winning triple in the seventh inning tonight to give the Milwaukee Brewers a 13 to 10 victory over the Montreal Royals and the Little World Series crown four games to two.

Olmo's three-bagger climaxed an uphill battle by the American Association representatives that had the Royals leading 10 to 4 at the end of four innings.

Total length of federal and state railways in Australia is 27,076 miles.

Then $17.00 an ounce!

Ninety-three years ago, Queen's University, Kingston, gave a medal to its first graduate in chemistry. The medal was made of aluminum—which then cost $17.00 an ounce.

Today aluminum costs only slightly over one cent an ounce.

The price has been brought down by mass production in huge plants using the electrolytic process discovered twenty-eight years after the Queen's medal was presented.

By developing some of Canada's waterpower, previously running to waste, Alcan has succeeded in making this country the world's most efficient producer of aluminum, giving employment to many thousands of Canadians and through exports of "packaged power" aiding Canadians in acquiring the imports needed here. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Rainiers Sign Bill Sweeney

SEATTLE, Oct. 4. (INS)—Bill Sweeney, ex-pitcher of the Portland Beavers, was signed today to replace Rogers Hornsby as manager of the Pacific Coast League champion Seattle Rainiers.

Ernie Sick, owner of the Rainiers, said: "Sweeney was signed at a very substantial salary."

He declined to specify the amount.

Series Telecast Seen in Denver

DENVER, Oct. 4. (INS)—It was a day of firsts today for thousands of Denverites who got their first glimpse of television and chalked up their initial look-see at the world series.

Denver patrolmen estimated the crowd at 10,000 or 11,000 who were on hand at two downtown Denver hotels to watch the opening series game between the Yankees and Giants.

Take Your Pick

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—Betting odds on the world series dropped to 6 and 5—you pick them—tonight following New York Giants' 5-4 victory over the defending New York Yankees in the first game of the best-of-seven series. For tomorrow's second game the Yankees were favored at 7 to 5.

U.S. May Lift Dairy Ban

OTTAWA, Oct. 4. (CP)—The Canadian government is hopeful the United States government will rescind the recently-imposed restrictions against the import of dairy products, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

The minister expressed that hope when asked about a statement made here Tuesday by James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, that Canada and 11 other countries will retaliate against the U.S. if it doesn't repeal the restrictions.

"The last thing in the world we want to do is to take retaliatory action against the United States," said Mr. Pearson.

The U.S. restriction requires the U.S. Agriculture Department to impose quotas on fats, oils, cheese and other dairy products during the period in which the U.S. government is controlling prices.

Uncle Wiggily Story

SOMETHING SMELLS GOOD

While Bunty and Susie were having fun in their woodland playhouse where the lost ball was hidden, Buster and his friends, on the baseball field, were gathering wood to make a fire.

"Buster Longears," barked Jackie Bow Wow, who had knocked the long, high fly ball that was lost in the woods.

"Buster, do you really mean that if we roast some potatoes in this fire it will help us find the lost ball?"

"I hope it will," answered the flabby Scot.

"It sounds sort of silly to me," bleated Billie Wagtail, the goat.

"Well, if it sounds silly," said Buster, "you don't need to help roast the potatoes, Billie. And you don't need to eat them."

"On—help all right," promised the goat. "I like roast potatoes, even if they don't help us find the lost ball. But where are the potatoes, Buster?"

"We will go dig them in the field next to our baseball diamond," said Buster. "Uncle Wiggily, my daddy, planted the potatoes, and he said I could have some whenever I wanted any to roast. Now you fellows make a good fire, Buster. You come with me, Billy Wagtail, and help dig the potatoes. Your horns will be very good for digging the potatoes out of the ground."

"Sure. I'll horn out the potatoes," Billie promised.

While the other animal boys built the fire, Buster and Billie hurried to the potato field. And in the playhouse, Bunty and Susie had fun with Priscilla, the talking doll and also looked at the lost baseball which was on the ground in the middle of the little house.

"Why didn't you tell Buster, Susie. I am hungry."
